Welcome to the Fermanagh Lakelands

One of the most stunning waterways in the world with inspiration, fresh air and stunning vistas around every bend, the Fermanagh Lakelands is the perfect holiday destination to make memories that will last forever.

From cruising to kayaking, canoeing to angling, water biking to paddleboarding, there's limitless amounts of water activities to jump into here. One of the best ways to explore the Lakelands is by captaining your own vessel and with several boat hire companies, and no previous boating experience needed, the options are endless. Or sit back, relax and savour the spectacular shoreline on board a guided boat tour of enchanting Lough Erne. If you fancy a more up-tempo adventure on the waterways, why not visit one of the many activity centres dotted throughout the Lakelands which ensure a fun-filled, splashing time for all the family! After all that splashing about, you can whet your whistle with a well-earned pint and bite to eat at one of our many tasty food and drink pit-stops. We're practically swimming in amazing restaurants and cafes to sink your teeth into and as the recently awarded UK's friendliest town Enniskillen, you'll receive a warm welcome from the friendly locals.

For a land famous for its waterways, you'll be surprised at the massive range of things to do on dry land too. A county steeped in history with castles to pre-historic monuments, mountain tombs to caves, the magic is just waiting to be discovered. So, by foot, bicycle or car, off the beaten track adventures await with heritage and Geopark sites around every corner.

Rest your head for the night in one of Fermanagh Lakelands amazing accommodation options. From luxury hotels, homely B&Bs, quaint country houses to stately castles with dramatic sceneries you are guaranteed to find something to suit your trip and budget. There's nothing better than a relaxing evening after a day of adventures in a new town. You might want a relaxing spa experience to return to, or a more intimate B&B and for that, we have you covered. There's no getting away from it, when it comes to things to do and see in Fermanagh, we are drowning in options. So, make a break for it. A giant welcome awaits!

TRAILS IN CUILCAGH LAKELANDS UNESCO GLOBAL GEOPARK

GEOPARK

Looking for a gentle wander, an easily accessible trail for all, a family friendly leisurely stroll, or something a little bit more adventurous to explore? Here in Cuilcagh Lakelands Geopark we have trails suitable for all, with varying distances and grade levels, you are sure to find a trail to explore that suits your needs.

From tranquil lakeside paths, routes that wind through fascinating forests, trails steeped in heritage and geology, and tracks that offer breath taking views; a meander in Cuilcagh Lakelands Geopark is a must.

Although The Geopark covers a vast area of land across both west County Fermanagh and west County Cavan, here are just 8 trails in the Fermanagh area to tempt you to this beautiful region. If you are interested in finding out more information about these trails or the wider Geopark then visit www.cuilcaghlakelands.org.

Co. Fermanagh Cuilcagh Boardwalk Trail

Having been renamed the 'Stairway to Heaven' on social media, this hike should be on your bucket list whilst visiting Fermanagh. The trail meanders along a farmland track, through one of the largest expanses of blanket bog in Northern Ireland. The unmistakable, flat-topped ridge of Cuilcagh Mountain will become visible on the horizon along the route, before reaching the wooden boardwalk. A steady climb up steps will bring you to the precariously placed viewing platform at the edge of the mountain plateau, offering breath taking views of the surrounding landscape and a well-deserved rest before your decent.

To access the starting point of the trail, search 'Cuilcagh Boardwalk Trail' online.

Co. Fermanagh Carrickreagh Jetty Trail, Ely Lodge Forest

The Carrickreagh Jetty Trail, located in Ely Lodge Forest is accessible to all, making it the ideal trail to visit for wheelchair users or those with prams. Nestled on the shores of Lower Lough Erne, you will make your way through the colourful broadleaf forest, following the path that skirts the shoreline, that offers glimpses of spectacular views across the lough. The forest itself is alive with green foliage and an abundance of wildlife, from Red Squirrels to Pine Martens. At the end of the trail, you will reach Carrickreagh Jetty where you will be awarded with panoramic views of the lough.

Tom's Island Trail, Old Castle Archdale Forest

Located on the shores of Lower Lough Erne in Old Castle Archdale Forest, the Tom's Island Trail is situated in a broadleaf and coniferous forest that offers spectacular views across the wide expanse of water, as well as White Island and Davy's Island further afield. The forest is home to the ruins of Old Castle Archdale, an impressive fortification built in 1612. This trail is the perfect location for a family visit, where the old meets the new, with the adjoining Castle Archdale Country Park. Here, there are a number of picnic areas, walks, a cycle trail, fishing jetties and a play park to be explored.

Big Dog Trail, Big Dog Forest

Looking for an adventure a little bit off the beaten track, then the Big Dog Trail in Big Dog Forest is for you. Located in a remote 1,097 hectares of coniferous forest steeped in history and folklore, you will get a real feel of being in total wilderness. The highlight of this trail is the small climb to the top of Little Dog where you will be rewarded with astonishing 360° panoramic views of the surrounding landscape, dotted with lakes. Along this trail you will also find a secluded picnic spot which provides the perfect setting for a woodland feast. The trail is set in an area with an abundance of wildlife such as Red Deer, Herons, Dragonflies, and the Irish Hare, so make sure to keep a look out!

Tully Castle Trail

If you are looking for a route steeped in both built and natural heritage, then look no further than the Tully Castle Trail. This trail includes the remarkable remains of a fortified house and bawn built during the plantation era in the early 17th Century and has an incredibly sad story to its history. This charming trail also includes a traditional Irish cottage which houses an interactive exhibition, before winding through a broadleaf forest along the shoreline to be rewarded with commanding views of Lower Lough Erne. From here you will be able to spot Heron Island, Gay Island, and Inishmakill Island, important habitats for a variety of wild birds.

Magho Cliffs Trail, Lough Navar Forest

If you are looking for an alternative hike to the Cullcagh Boardwalk, then the Magho Cliffs Trail will not disappoint you. You have the option of starting this trail at the top, in Lough Navar Forest or starting at the bottom carpark located on the Loughshore Road (toilet facilities here). Making your way up from the bottom carpark, you will follow the path up the cliffs, twisting and winding its way through the woodland, with patches of open area providing great glimpses of the cliff escarpment and views below. The jewel of this 300m high cliff trail is the immense views of the surrounding area when you reach the top. Panoramic views offer the opportunity to a bird's eye view across Lower Lough Erne, and far into counties Fermanagh, Sligo, Tyrone, Donegal and as far as the Wild Atlantic Way.

Rossergole Point Trail, Castle Caldwell Forest

This stunning trail is located on a peninsula in Castle Caldwell Forest, surrounded by Lower Lough Erne and has many fascinating features steeped in heritage. Those who take time to explore this trail will come across the old castle remains, as well as the impressive industrial-scale limestone kiln tucked away within the ancient broadleaf forest. These features along with the geology of the area are responsible for Belleek Pottery, located in the nearby village of Belleek today. As you meander your way around this trail, you will also come across Rossergole Point, the tip of the peninsula, which has dominating views across Lower Lough Erne.

Pollnagollum Cave Trail, Belmore Forest

The Pollnagollum Cave Trail is located in Belmore Forest and lies above a caver's paradise. It is hard to believe that when you are exploring this route, beneath your feet lies an extensive maze of caves but this is made easier to imagine by visiting the highlight of this trail. A viewing platform allowing a safe vantage point into the impressive Pollnagollum Cave entrance which is fed by a beautifully cascading waterfall toppling over a 12m high limestone cliff, disappearing into the depths of darkness. For Game of Thrones fans, this cave was featured in the popular TV series. The trail also encompasses spectacular views over the surrounding area including Cuilcagh Mountain, Lower Lough MacNeane and Brougher Mountain.

When you are out and about exploring
The Geopark please be mindful of...

The Geopark Code

- 1 PREPARATION IS KEY - The weather in The Geopark can change in the blink of an eye so make sure to take warm, waterproof clothing, sturdy footwear and something to eat and drink.
- 2 TAKE YOUR LITTER HOME - Litter not only looks awful but can be eaten by wildlife, livestock and can end up in our waterways, so please help the environment by leaving only footprints.
- 3 KEEP TO THE TRAIL - There are important habitats which are very sensitive to footsteps so help conserve them by staying on waymarked trails and keep yourself safe by steering clear of cliffs, bog holes and uneven terrain.
- 4 LEAVE WHAT YOU FIND - Many of the species and formations in The Geopark are rare and important so please take only pictures of these remarkable landscapes.
- 5 RESPECT OTHERS - Many people work and live within The Geopark, so help them out by refraining from blocking gates, damaging fences and please respect livestock.
- 6 MINIMISE FIRE RISK - Uncontrolled fires can destroy hundreds of acres of habitat which take years to recover. Help prevent this by not throwing cigarette ends or glass/plastic bottles away which can cause ignition.

DEVENISH ISLAND

Lower Lough Erne | Co. Fermanagh

Devenish of the Assemblies was founded by St Molaise in the 6th century, the monastery of Devenish Island was the most important of Lough Erne's many island monasteries. Over the centuries it became a large parish stretching across both sides of the Lough, attracting pilgrims and parishioners until the 1600s. The remains of the buildings you see today date from the 12th, 13th and 15th centuries. Remnants of the island's earlier history remain hidden beneath your feet. Devenish was a holy place of worship, scholarship and burial, accessible only by water. It was a place of welcome for pilgrims, as well as where people lived, worked and prayed. It was also a safe meeting place for powerful chieftains and religious leaders and was given the name Devenish of the Assemblies.

Devenish Island is situated on Lower Lough Erne and only accessible by water. A number of local operators provide transport to the Island - see Boat Trips & Day Boat Hire.

DREENAN FIGURE

Boa Island | Kesh | Enniskillen

This very well-known stone figure has been sitting in the rural graveyard at Caldrough, in Dreenan, on Boa Island since at least 1841. For many years the scholarly opinion was that it belonged to the pagan Iron Age. The statue has often been described, wrongly, as a Janus figure – Janus being a Roman god who could look in many directions. But this is not a figure with two faces but two complete, more or less identical, figures placed back to back. It likely represents an unpleasant and frightening figure of mythology and folk-lore, identifying with the war-goddess Badhbh – the hooded crow. This view, based on the appearance of the figures, is given extra credibility by the fact that the name Boa Island comes from the Irish Inis Badhbha – 'Badhbh's island'.

Arigna
Mining Experience
Co. Roscommon

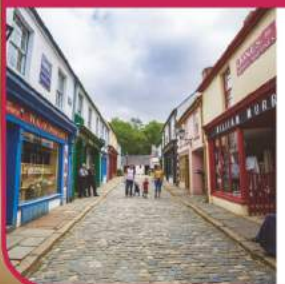

Only a 1 hour drive from Enniskillen, the Arigna Mining Experience in Co. Roscommon will certainly appeal to those looking for a day out with a difference. The visitor centre is located in a beautiful scenic location overlooking Lough Allen. Now a popular tourist post, this visitor centre is a community inspired initiative that preserves the 400 year old coal mining heritage of the area and allows visitors an insight into coal mining life as it was in the Arigna Valley for centuries.

With an ex-Miner as your tour guide, the visit to the museum includes access to an exhibit area where there is a DVD presentation and a wonderful authentic photographic exhibition. The highlight of the visit is an underground tour where the visitor is brought to the mine's coal face and where lighting and sound effects add to the reality of the experience. The centre is fully accessible and is an all-weather facility, open all year round. The Arigna Mining Experience is located close to the borders of Leitrim, Sligo & Fermanagh. Open: 7 days per week, year round, 10:00-17:00 what you're looking for in Enniskillen. Enjoy a guided walk round Enniskillen with a difference by taking part in the Enniskillen Taste Experience, a tour showcasing the best of the town's food and drink offerings. While you're wandering round the town, make sure you take in the vibrant Murals that are springing up, including the one of Enniskillen's most famous exports, Ted Hastings! It is said that Oscar Wilde was moved to write the story of the Happy Prince when he was a student at Portora Royal School. His eye would have been drawn to the majestic sight of Coles Monument which stands high above the island town on a tall column. Make sure to follow the trail of Golden Swallows, inspired by Wilde's writings, round Enniskillen streets and buildings. The pubs, restaurants and cafes provide a diverse culinary experience as well as a wide selection of live music including lively Trad sessions. Coupled with the range of shopping outlets, including some fabulous independent shops as well as high street retailers, means that you really will have the best time in our Island Town.

Castle | Enniskillen | Co Fermanagh | BT74 7HL
E: fgc2012@hotmail.com or T: +44 (0) 28 66 325000

Fermanagh Genealogy are a charitable organisation run by local volunteers, who assist visitors in finding their family history connections in Fermanagh. They are based in their centre at Enniskillen Castle Museum, where they collect and transcribe records and respond to email enquiries. Their face to face assistant service is currently suspended but they hope to resume at a later date.

Family historians looking for assistance should email their enquiry into fgc2012@hotmail.com with as much information as they can. All enquiries are dealt with in strict order of receipt, as and when volunteers are able, therefore it may take time to receive a response.

Further information may be obtained from the information centre at the museum, by visiting the website <https://fermanaghgenealogy.org/> or connecting to the group via their Facebook page: <https://www.facebook.com/fermanaghgc>

Food and Drink

Fermanagh is well renowned as a culinary destination, with a fantastic range of restaurants, pubs and cafes as well as local food produce.

The tranquillity of the Fermanagh Countryside and magical Lough Erne lends itself as a back drop to many of our eateries making your dining experience just that bit extra special and is also the inspiration to many of the wonderful dishes you will try while you're here.

Purple
Flag™

1. Enniskillen and Omagh have retained the prestigious Purple Flag status in recognition of the towns thriving evening and night-time economy.
2. Purple Flag, similar to the Blue Flag for beaches, is an international award to raise the standards and broaden the appeal of town and city centres from early evening until late.
3. Purple Flag is an accreditation process run by the Association of Town and City Management (ATCM) and is the benchmark for good night time destinations. Areas awarded with a Purple Flag are recognised for providing a diverse and vibrant mix of dining, entertainment and culture while promoting the safety and well-being of visitors and local residents. To put it more simply, Purple Flag status indicates where to go for a good night out! This is not just for pubs and clubs but for a wide range of activities including arts and culture, leisure, eating out and events.
4. It's not difficult to see why Enniskillen and Omagh town centres tick all the boxes with a growing number of restaurants, cafes and attractions, plus major cultural events attracting visitors and residents of all ages.
5. A number of local agencies and organisations including the PSNI, Fermanagh and Omagh Policing and Community Safety Partnership and representatives from the business, community and voluntary sector sit on Fermanagh and Omagh District Council's Purple Flag working groups to ensure that both towns continue to provide great entertainment, exceptional hospitality and a safe night out for visitors.
6. In Northern Ireland there are only five towns and cities that have Purple Flag status. The fact that two of these are in the Fermanagh and Omagh District is a fantastic achievement. The others are Armagh, Derry/Londonderry and Newry. For further information about the coveted award, visit www.atcm.org/purple-flag.

ENNISKILLEN CASTLE

Museums | Visitor Information | Heritage Gateway

Enniskillen Castle, situated beside the River Erne in County Fermanagh, was built almost 600 years ago by the ruling Gaelic Maguires. The historic site houses two museums, Fermanagh County Museum and The Innskillings Museum. New facilities include a café, shop, discovery space with panoramic views, seven new galleries, genealogy centre and tourist information.
